Climate Justice & Faith Concentration

Empowering leaders to cultivate moral, spiritual, and practical power for the work of climate justice in communities of faith.

This concentration is designed for students interested in earth-honoring theology, ethics, spirituality, and practices that connect ecological well-being with racial, economic, and gender justice.

This concentration prepares students to:
• Lead congregations in developing climate justice work
• Practice climate justice as a spiritual practice
• Address intersections of climate change with racial, economic, and gender-based inequity
• Articulate biblical, ethical, theological, and spiritual grounding for climate justice
• Employ scientific resources related to climate change
• Collaborate with interfaith and community partners
